Access to the Workforce for Adult and Adolescent Learners with AD/HD and Asperger's Syndrome

February 22 – 23, 2009

Bon Secour Conference Center (BSCC)
1525 Marriottsville Road
Marriottsville, MD 21104

A two-day concentrated format that directly responds to membership calls for more of what NAASLN does best—intimate, practical, and hands-on training programs!

Conveniently located just 30 miles from Baltimore, this regional conference will draw adult education practitioners, state directors of adult education, transition specialists, community college faculty, workforce counselors, disability advocates, and others from New York to Virginia.

Access to the Workforce for Adult and Adolescent Learners with AD/HD and Asperger's Syndrome will feature three plenary sessions as well as small-group discussions of how these breakthrough strategies apply to the evolving economy; issues affecting the new workforce; transition to postsecondary education and the workforce; advocacy issues and techniques; and more.

Registration is limited to 70 overnight registrants and 80 day-only registrants.

Full registration of $250 covers a day-and-a-half of sessions, one overnight, all meals, 24-hour access to a hospitality suite, and free parking. Full registration with no overnight accommodations is $190. The day-only registration of $135 covers one day of sessions, two meals, hospitality suite, and free parking.

NAASLN has chosen the perfect setting of the Bon Secour Conference Center, a beautiful, self-contained, countyside facility surrounded by rolling hills and woods with comfortable meeting facilities, customized meals, on-site gym, and acres of walking trails. Conveniently located, BSCC is about 30 minutes by car from Baltimore, or by shuttle from BWI and Amtrak.
